

Chatham County Board of Commissioners

To build Chatham's brightest future, ELECT: Hales - Crawford - Howard

They oppose the extreme GOP-led General Assembly in Raleigh and support the goals of the Moral Monday movement.

When elected, they will...

- ✓ work to ban fracking in Chatham County
- ✓ protect your property rights against fracking companies
- ✓ protect the water you drink and the air you breathe
- ✓ plan for Chatham's growth by completing the Land Use Plan
- ✓ advocate for higher-paying jobs for everyone
- ✓ work for high-quality public education for children & adults
- ✓ work regionally to invest in Chatham and its municipalities
- ✓ preserve Chatham's agricultural and rural heritage
- ✓ be open, accessible, transparent, and inclusive

Diana Hales, District 3

Diana Hales is a retired state employee who knows government exists to serve the public. Diana is concerned about the dangers of fracking and the impact it will have on Chatham's water, environment, and quality of life. Diana has attended Board of Commissioner meetings for over three years. She knows the process and is ready to serve. www.ElectDianaHales.com

Jim Crawford, District 4

Jim Crawford is a former history teacher at NC A&T and UNC-Greensboro. Jim is a volunteer carpenter with the Council on Aging and serves on the Chatham County planning board. Jim wants to protect your home investment and give you a voice in how the county grows. www.Democracy.com/Jim-Crawford

Karen Howard, District 1

Karen Howard is a former corporate litigation attorney, mother of six and is ready to fight for Chatham County. Karen is the current Chair of the Chatham County School Board where she is a fierce advocate for public education believing it to be critical to stable and high-quality economic growth. www.Howard4Commissioner.com

Chatham County Board of Education

Vote for leaders who support Chatham County teachers and foster a system that serves all the children in Chatham County

Del Turner, District 3

Incumbent Del Turner believes the mandate of school boards and superintendents is to set the vision for the schools and in doing so, shape the social and economic future of our society. Del will continue working for...

- A well-rounded curriculum for students that fosters critical thinking skills

- A higher STANDARD of pay for teachers and increased salaries for all school personnel
- Capping the number of charter schools in Chatham County and demanding equivalent oversight and accountability
- Maintaining control of local Boards of Education

Jane Allen Wilson, District 4

Jane Allen Wilson has fifteen years of experience advocating for families in crisis as well as collaborating with local agencies that support the well-being of children. Her background includes experience working for both the NC Legislature and the U.S. Senate, and serving on state task forces and policy committees. Jane Allen will:

- Work to attract, fully support, and retain good teachers
- Promote public education and its successes
- Maintain the strong programs that work well for students
- Enhance and improve parents' access to faculty & staff
- Serve as a bridge to the Spanish-speaking community
- Seek community input, listen, and advocate fully for the well-being of Chatham's children.

Gary Leonard, District 5

Incumbent Gary Leonard retired from teaching in the Chatham County School system in 2007 yet teaches at Chatham Charter School. Leonard believes we must do a more effective job in mentoring our students. Administration, curriculum specialists, and curriculum coaches must continue to give teachers the support they need for success.
